2005 Graduating Senior Survey Student Comments College of Health Sciences

"Why" or "why not" responses to question "if you had to do it over again, would you choose to attend UWM?"

Because the faculty here are approachable and care for the students.

Convenience and price.

For me, I like the smaller schools that have less students in the classes. That way the instructors can get to know me better.

GREAT SCHOOL, I LEARNED A LOT!!!!

Great for the program I was in, but I prefer the small private college setting vs UWM's urban setting.

I am impressed with UWM in the way there is a diverse cultural environment. I'm not certain that another University would afford me the same opportunities and experiences in cultural diversity.

I attended UW-Madison for my first two years of undergraduate schooling and transferred to UWM for the final two years.

I believe that UWM has prepared me to become the professional that I want to be. I have learned many lessons in my program and I received the education that I have hoped for.

I did enjoy the time I spent at the first college I attended, but they didn't have the specific career that I wanted.

I felt that the staff and classes were great and very educational.

I had a very positive experience at UWM. For the most part, I felt that the faculty were really interested in me as a person and not just a number in a class, and really wanted to make this educational experience a positive one.

I like the diversity at UWM.

I liked the diversity of viewpoints and classes at UWM. I also enjoyed the big campus climate.

I love the school. All my teachers were great. Its just an overall enjoyable experience

I not only had a great experience with my instructors, but I have met people here that I am sure will be lifelong friends. It has been an unforgettable experience

I really like the environment. I am in a small program and I know all my professors and peers. Makes it feel like a close knit family

I really liked Milwaukee. The Occupational Therapy program was well known and the city is great as well.

I think UWM offered the courses I wanted in a great city. I love UWM.

I thought it was a great opportunity. I loved the personal attention from my professors, but also the big city feel and an urban campus.

I would have preferred a smaller school, where I'm not in lecture halls all day and where the professors know my name.

I would say yes b/c I would pay in-state tuition. No b/c tuition has increased very year that I have been at UWM.

the lack of culture diversity and understanding for non traditional students

It was a fun and rewarding and I now look forward to graduate school.

It was affordable and gave me a varied experience.

It was close to home but I could still live on my own.

It was convenient to get there by riding the U-Bus.

It was great experience to share it with such a diverse population. I've made many lifelong relationships and the instructors were helpful and challenging.

huge class size, ratio of students to the teacher

Older, non-traditional student and closeness to home

Since I was a transfer student, I think my experience was better because I felt more involved and a part of the university than my previous school

UWM gave me the opportunity to advance my education. Not only in academics but also professional development and cultural experiences.

UWM is the closest four-year university to my home.

When I started UWM I was not sure that I wanted to even be in school. Now that I am the Medical Technology submajor I am grateful that I continued.

While it was a good institution, I feel as though I would have liked to have studied in a more religious environment.

close to home

its not worth it if youre a commuter (ie parking, blocked scheduling, etc.)
