

2010 Graduating Senior Survey Student Comments

Definitely	I really like the psychology department.
Definitely	I really liked the campus and everything that was offered. My only gripe would be lack of housing.

Definitely	I think it is a great school and the learning process was amazing!
Definitely	I thought UWM was an amazing university. I was able to accomplish my degree in four years and thanks to the faculty, I gained so much from my four years as an undergraduate. I feel that UWM offers its students an exceptional education and I am grateful and honored to be graduating from UWM.
Definitely	I wanted to go to UW-Madison. I applied for transfer and got in no problem, but was more inclined to stick with UW-Milwaukee. That says it all.
Definitely	I was able to commute from home by the U-Pass system, and my Pre-Pharmacy course work and undergraduate work could be completed.
Definitely	I went to Madison for a while, which I thought would be the ultimate college experience, but once I came to UWM, I found an extremely helpful and knowledgeable faculty, a great and well-designed campus, vibrant academic programs, and a school that was willing and able to meet my needs as a returning student.
Definitely	I wish I had figured out UWM was the place for me from the start. I feel like I wasted time in Madison. There is a larger sense of community here at UWM.
Definitely	I've found UWM to be a wonderful place for students as all of the professors I've had showed great interest in their field and in professing. I also must stress the importance of the Honors College in creating a better experience for me at UWM.
Definitely	It had everything I needed to complete my degree as quickly as possible.
Definitely	It has been a great period of growth for me. I love my classes and the professors I've met. I'll be sad to leave the campus.

Definitely	It's a great school and it offered plenty of opportunities for students.

Definitely	Loved the campus
Definitely	Made so many connections with wonderful faculty, staff, and connections.

Definitely	Milwaukee in general opened my eyes to the very wide world that is out there, and UW-Milwaukee was a great place to experience the entire college experience!!
Definitely	Milwaukee is a great city with a lot to offer both culturally enriching and actives for the die hard sports fan in me. I feel that I have gained more from UWM than I will be able to give back but will always look back and be thankful of the positives that have molded my character. Also the athletics at UWM we're a very large influence on my decision as well, I'm a proud alumni of the UWM Men's Swimming and Diving team.
Definitely	My department had excellent teachers more than willing to give personal attention. They made requirements flexible, understanding my busy schedule and double major, advising me to even break requirements when necessary if they felt it would further my education. The environment was cooperative, allowing me to further my learning through discussion and mutual instruction with fellow physics undergrads. This helped me learn the material better, and made it exciting to do so. At the very least, the physics department created a spectacular and flexible environment from learning.
Definitely	On-line technologies, Fantastic advisor: Adnrew Cuneo
Definitely	Overall, teachers were helpful, the Psychology department and advisors were all so helpful with whatever questions I had. School was worth going to, lectures were also interesting.
Definitely	Panther pride.
Definitely	Relatively cheap and close to home.
Definitely	So that I could be close to home to help my handicapped relatives...if I didn't have any family obligations I would have gone somewhere else.
Definitely	The Anthropology faculty was exemplary.
Definitely	The campus is a good size and the Journalism program was very beneficial.
Definitely	The campus is great, the professors are helpful and intelligent, and the experience was wonderful.
Definitely	The campus is very close to home, the instructors are overall really great! My experience here has been wonderful.
Definitely	The conservation program is very well rounded
Definitely	The environment, education, people, and community were amazing.
Definitely	The experiences I've had at UWM were unique and I doubt I'd be able to find a similar group of students elsewhere.
Definitely	The Journalism Department at UWM is, in my opinion, one of the best in the state. I most likely would not have found my love for journalism nor my eagerness to pursue it if it weren't for the highly experienced and superior lecturers.
Definitely	The Math department is really welcoming, and accessible. I felt that I got a lot of attention, and that made all of the difference.
Definitely	The online classes were more convenient and with wider range than those offered through other universities.
Definitely	The professors are really good to work with.
Definitely	The professors in the Classics department are the best! They are one of the reasons I changed my major to Classical Civilizations. It was an enjoyable experience.
Definitely	The quality of my education at UWM was, in my mind, on par or possibly even superior to one I may have received at elite universities.
Definitely	The school has a good anthropology program.
Definitely	The school has a wonderful Anthropology program

Definitely	The school is well-staffed and provides an excellent learning environment.

Definitely	The university is close to home and the English Department has been wonderful.
Definitely	There were so many majors to choose from, and I enjoyed the diversity UWM has to offer.
Definitely	This education experience effected me like I could have ever expected.
Definitely	UWM actually has and excellent Anthropology school I think
Definitely	UWM had an amazing Anthropology department and centered on the importance of research and the techniques of applying the research to yourself.
Definitely	UWM had comfortable class sizes & knowledgeable professors intrigue my further knowledge in the psychology field.
Definitely	UWM has an incredibly good philosophy department
Definitely	UWM has given me many opportunities to benefit my future.
Definitely	UWM has provided a great learning environment for me all four years of my undergraduate education.
Definitely	UWM is a great school with great help and advisors. There are a lot of great programs too.
Definitely	UWM is a growing urban campus that is simply the "place to be".
Definitely	UWM is an outstanding school and offered a wide variety of courses with gifted professors. As a commuter, the U-Bus offered me a great way to save money and obtain an education at an excellent school.
Definitely	UWM offered courses in all of my areas of interest (foreign languages, literature, sciences). I felt comfortable taking classes at this campus.
Definitely	UWM offers the program that I want and I feel I have learned much from the academics and city life in general.
Definitely	UWM was a perfect fit for me. It had programs that I thought could help propel my professional goals.
Definitely	UWM was perfect--the class sizes, quality of classes, accessibility, opportunities, and overall environment definitely exceeded my expectations.
Definitely	UWM was very a very enjoyable experience
Definitely	Well respected school and Professors, Most classes were easy to sign-up/attend due to a wide variety of interests and availability.
Definitely	Yes because the professors are awesome.
Definitely	Yes I would. It has been a great experience.
Definitely	Yes, I felt like the programs I pursued were taught very well, and I also enjoyed the city of Milwaukee as a whole.
Definitely	Yes, I love being in the city of Milwaukee and my professors have been wonderfully effective.
Definitely	Yes, Its a great place to be

Definitely No	I didn't know UWM was more of a commuter school. I didn't like the fact that the staff and faculty at UWM were closed off and distant towards the students. There's no sense of pride or involvement on campus. I also didn't like the fact that I had to go through so many different advisors as a student here. I would have graduated earlier if I was advised correctly to take the right courses during my first year at UWM. I hate it that many of my courses don't apply towards my degree and I ended up wasting my time and money. If I could do it all over again, I would pick a more academically focused university whose students, staff and faculty are committed and involved with the university and campus as a whole. I would also pick another university that focuses on helping their students graduate on time.
Definitely No	Insufficient academic help and guidance, repetitive classes in major
Definitely No	The JMC department is awful. The requirements were always changing, the classes had expensive additional fees, and there was hardly any graphic training besides JMC 336. I only enjoyed 1 of the many JMC professors I had. The rest had too big of egos and didn't care about their students at all.
Definitely No	This will be my second bachelors, and I mainly chose UWM since I had already moved to Milwaukee for a job. There were many aspects of the school that I wasn't fond of, but mainly encountered some of professors that were very poor in comparison to my previous experience. There also some good ones, but overall I was not happy with the low quality of the professors here.
Definitely No	UWM does not offer the "traditional" college experience. Many students are commuter- students which makes it hard to form relationships.
Definitely No	UWM is too big and I need smaller classes and more 1 on 1 time with advisors and teachers. I would prefer a smaller school.
Definitely No	Very Inconvenient for people who commute. UWM should offer science online classes
Probably	A good program in Atmospheric Sciences, a large enough school to allow connections to a very diverse group of people, convenience of having the entire campus in a small confined area.
Probably	Academically, I felt that UWM was great. I will leave here without a doubt that I learned a lot. However, I wanted more of the traditional college experience, which I felt I somewhat missed out on at UWM.
Probably	Although I have enjoyed my program and the city of Milwaukee, I have found that information and ways to connect to campus are seriously lacking for transfer students. Another serious downside is that a lot of classes in the catalog that attracted me to UWM were never offered. That being said, I do like the facilities and the education I received.
Probably	As I am applying to graduate schools, I feel like it would have been beneficial to come from a Big ten school.
Probably	Attending UWM is very inexpensive and I enjoyed many of my classes.
Probably	best choice for instate school, wish i could afford out of state. but i was pleasantly surprised by the science department. however, the lack of water/fish courses offered was very disappointing, especially for starting a fresh water science graduate program!
Probably	But would highly consider Madison for its outstanding advances in the field of science
Probably	Close to Home
Probably	Close to home and most friends are in the area.
Probably	Close to home, and in-state tuition helped a lot to bring me to UWM
Probably	cost of living was a little more expensive than anticipated. Milwaukee was a fun city. campus is a good size.
Probably	Diverse students, faculty and courses.
Probably	Diversity was good. Education ok.

Probably	Effective, passionate teachers
Probably	Everything turned out really well for me. It wasn't my first choice, but I'm very happy with the way things turned out.
Probably	Excellent location and proximity to family. I like the urban environment and atmosphere of the city. Many professors have exceeded my expectations.
Probably	Financially, it was the most appropriate choice for me.
Probably	For the intended Major, yes because the psych program at UW is great.
Probably	geographical reasons - wanted different environment than Wisconsin
Probably	Good class sizes, good teachers, comfortable campus.
Probably	Good classes and teachers, but a far commute.
Probably	Good program, good instructors, good price.
Probably	Good school, good teachers, good city, good atmosphere
Probably	good size, but not too big. still has a personal feel with a big school/city atmosphere
Probably	Great campus
Probably	great campus, people, activities and teachers
Probably	Had a great experience, but felt like a number most of the time.
Probably	I already have a degree from UWM. I am an Alumni from the class of 2003. Therefore, at this point if I do my Masters it may be at a institution as I plan on moving.
Probably	I am a nontraditional student and moved back to Wisconsin for family support while I single parented two kids and went to school full time. I did not have many options and UWM was the best choice for me in the area
Probably	I am going on to study Neuroscience at the graduate level, and the Neuroscience faculty here I have worked with are excellent.
Probably	I am happy with my education, but UW was another option and touts more prestige
Probably	I appreciated the class sizes at UWM.
Probably	I couldn't afford to go to school out of state, and this is the most diverse city in Wisconsin.
Probably	I did not live down on campus and I just felt like I didn't 'belong' to the campus. I got no sense of school pride. I was disappointed with many of my professors. I believe I learned more from my textbooks than from many of my in-class lectures. I also really did not like the fact that some of the courses I needed to take were only available online. I don't enjoy taking online courses, and I didn't want to pay more. Students should always have the option to take courses down on campus before they are forced to take them online.
Probably	I ended up falling in love with the program and faculty here at UWM. I felt at home and welcome.
Probably	I enjoy Milwaukee and being close to my friends and family. I'd rather wait until I graduate before moving, if at all.
Probably	I enjoy the city and the people.
Probably	I enjoy the location and curriculum.
Probably	I enjoyed a lot of the classes I took

Probably	I enjoyed and appreciated my experience at UWM, the only thing that would tempt me anywhere else is the prospect of traveling and attending school in another part of the US or world, you see I was born and raised here in Milwaukee.
Probably	I enjoyed most of my professors
Probably	I enjoyed my educational experience at Wisconsin-Milwaukee, but I do sometimes wonder what my education would have been like at the University of Wisconsin-Madison or perhaps elsewhere.
Probably	I enjoyed my experience here but do wish I would have possibly gone out of state.
Probably	I enjoyed the campus and also the faculty, however, the city of Milwaukee is not the ideal location
Probably	I enjoyed the school my first few years here however the science and chemistry facilities do not have the proper funding and equipment for research.
Probably	I enjoyed the urban atmosphere
Probably	I enjoyed UWM. It was a good school.
Probably	I feel confident in the education I received within my respective department: English.
Probably	I find the overall student body to be unmotivated, and many of the teachers' expectations and attitudes show this. However, I have only good things to say about the German department. It is small, but the faculty are diverse in their expertise, and highly competent. So bravo, and hire more of them when you can!
Probably	I got the experience and classes I wanted. It has prepared me for my career path.
Probably	I got the same education I would have received anywhere else
Probably	I had a good experience
Probably	I had a good research experience with Dr. James Moyer. However, I think the university as a whole, is way too concerned with its image, making money and competing with UW-Madison.
Probably	I had a good time here and enjoyed the environment. But the advising is sub-par.
Probably	I had an overall positive experience at UWM.
Probably	I had originally gone to UWM looking to obtain a degree in Civil Engineering, but I changed my major to Geography. I think UWM was a perfect fit because I did not have to transfer universities because I switched to a different major.
Probably	I have been having trouble trying to figure out why my credits from AP exams have not posted to my overall credits. I ended up taking classes I did not need to according to the credits that were awarded for my AP exam scores.
Probably	I have had a good academic experience at UWM
Probably	I have had good experiences with my professors and classes.
Probably	I haven't run into very many challenging classes, but the people are great.
Probably	I learned a lot about myself here.
Probably	I like an urban university with an online program.
Probably	I like the atmosphere
Probably	I like the program and the teachers involved
Probably	I liked the location, size of the campus, and programs offered.

Probably	I liked UWM, but the major thing for me was that there were so many classes taught by Teachers Assistants including one class at the 400 level. I felt my learning experience was more of a learning experience for them than it was for me.
Probably	I live here
Probably	I love the atmosphere of the campus and hold all of the English professors/ instructors I've encountered in high regard.
Probably	I love the city! The school and the community around it are fairly interwoven.
Probably	I love the diversity and the city. I started my college experience at Madison, and I felt a lot of intimidation there. Although I never have regrets when considering the decisions I have made, I wonder if UWM would have been a better fit from the beginning.
Probably	I loved the city. The campus is condensed so it is easy to get everywhere in a timely manner. There are many programs that are easily accessible to students to help them with their studies.
Probably	I really enjoy the campus and the diversity but I think that there should be more classes available in the psych department and for childhood adolescent studies.
Probably	I really enjoyed my experience here.
Probably	I really enjoyed the Atmospheric Science program here. The only thing I don't enjoy at UWM is the low standards it carries for application. It makes it seem like a community college when UWM should be recognized as a challenging university
Probably	I really like the campus.
Probably	I think the classes were challenging yet manageable.
Probably	I think UWM has a great campus and I really enjoyed the classes I had
Probably	I thought the Film Studies department was run very well with talented and engaging professors.
Probably	I transferred from UW-Madison. I had a positive experience at UWM. The professors were helpful, and I was able to get research assistant positions in psychology.
Probably	I was worried about UWM's reputation. I was originally enrolled at Marquette, but due to financial reasons chose UWM. Regardless, I did enjoy attending UWM.
Probably	I would consider going to UW Madison, but my grades weren't high enough to get in so I think things worked out for the best.
Probably	I would have looked around for a school that offered more sports business related classes.
Probably	I would have preferred to go to a school with more name recognition than UWM, but overall I am satisfied with my education that I received at Milwaukee.
Probably	I would probably choose UWM because I: 1. Learned from experienced professionals in the field. 2. Studied a broad array of interesting coursework. 3. It's a school that's always trying to push forward. 4. Concerned with the community 5. Diversity 6. Friendly atmosphere
Probably	I would say yes. Very good classes dealing with the topics of film and its craft.
Probably	I've enjoyed my time here. Milwaukee has a lot to offer in terms of experience that I would not have had some place else.
Probably	I've had a good overall experience here

Probably	If I did not have to pay my own tuition, I would probably look to go to UW-Madison or Marquette. However, because me doing it all over again would probably involve me paying my own tuition, I would again choose UWM, and that would be a choice I would be very satisfied with.
Probably	In comparison to my previous school, UWM is much larger, offers a better variety of courses, and is a diverse school in an urban environment. Though its credentials as an academic institutions fall a bit below in terms of rankings, I felt that the quality of education and care of professors and TA's was much stronger here.
Probably	In state tuition is affordable and the classes were worth the cost.
Probably	Inexpensive, close to home
Probably	It had my major program and the location was convenient.
Probably	It is a nice school, I like the city a lot. University offers a variety of different classes.
Probably	It is a quality institution.
Probably	It is affordable and has a decent education to offer.
Probably	It is all up to geography for me. If I lived in another state I would have had no problem going to another University. Although, I did like UWM.
Probably	It is an in-state school that is not too expensive that is a very good University.
Probably	It is close to home and the perfect size for my personal liking. The campus is full of life and good people.
Probably	It was a good school and I especially liked the departments I studied under.
Probably	It was a solid four years of coursework. Most of the teachers were great, but a different setting would have been good too.
Probably	It was an enjoyable experience.
Probably	It was convenient and cheaper than other options. I was pleased overall with my experiences.
Probably	It was the closest Major university where I could recieve a bachelors in Economics
Probably	It worked out well, I had many great professors, and I met a girlfriend I probably wouldn't have met otherwise. Madison might have been good for me though.
Probably	It's a good school, I enjoyed my time here.
Probably	It's close to home, and at this point, education is what I make of it. I don't think the institution matters.
Probably	It's close to home, convenient, and had many options in degree programs.
Probably	It's close to home, however, there are some things about the university that I do not understand.
Probably	It's very close to home. I feel like I get a lot of academic support where I need it.
Probably	Its a better school than where I was.
Probably	Its a pretty good school. I wish I had come here sooner.
Probably	Lazy
Probably	Like Big cities
Probably	Limited availability of online classes.
Probably	Local location. UWM is a great place to begin your collegiate education and leave the option open whether you want to switch universities for an advanced degree.

Probably	Location
Probably	location and athletics
Probably	Location Location Location
Probably	Most schools are the same. I did enjoy the city experience.
Probably	My degree covers various areas of study and the professors were knowledgeable and available for questions.
Probably	My only regret is not going across the country. But I'm very glad I came to UWM over Madison.
Probably	My time at UWM has been bittersweet. I'm glad it's over, but I had a good time.
Probably	Not having free parking was annoying for commuting.
Probably	Nothing to do with the school, I prefer the country setting over the city.
Probably	Online classes were too expensive
Probably	Only University in my area so that i wouldn't have to move
Probably	Prefer private schools
Probably	Received an athletic scholarship that paid four years of tuition.
Probably	Relatively low cost of tuition.
Probably	Since I transferred two years in to my schooling UWM was obviously not my first choice, but I am very glad I made it my choice as it led me to my major and a well needed change in environment.
Probably	The Africology department is one of the best around.
Probably	The anthropology department is highly regarded.
Probably	The boldness of the plans for expansion are in keeping with the Wisconsin Idea, and allow UWM to call itself sister to UW-Madison.
Probably	The campus has a good atmosphere and the classes are not too big, not too small.
Probably	The CES program was good, but not very challenging.
Probably	The experience was well worth it and the educational opportunity fit exactly what i was looking for.
Probably	The history department is amazing, but there are just to many people who don't take school seriously.
Probably	the only reason i say probably is because the majority of your professors feel as though they are doing us a favor by being there. I always wanted to tell them that us students are the reasons they have jobs. In no other industry but this one is it okay for employees to talk to the customers the your professors do. They're not doing us any favors WE are doing them a favor.
Probably	The parking conditions are ridiculous. The $200 registration fee every year is also excessive. Teaching Assistants should not grade any work either. Continued building of apartment buildings which obviously cater to the more affluent students is also insulting. You provided transportation to and from school for them but I can't park anywhere near campus. You waste so many resources on the rich kids and pay no attention to the students in the trenches like me. The type of student that works until 3 am and still manages to be in class at 8:30 am. I also think that any financial gain the professors get by changing the edition of the textbooks every semester has to stop; especially when the only changes made may only be reflected on a few pages. That would lower the costs for students. Facebook, and Twitter and any other social networking sight should be banned from university computers. There is nothing more frustrating the needing a computer and seeing some student on Facebook and text-messaging someone at the same time.
Probably	The program was easy to follow and the staff was great.

Probably	the safety of the campus area are the only reason i am not completely sure if I could do it all over again
Probably	The school is decent and I feel I gained a good amount of knowledge in my undergraduate degree. The location is perfect for southeastern WI students and the school was a manageable size, though sometimes I feel the classes were a bit large and lacked individual attention.
Probably	They facilitated the "family" college experience, since I already have a husband and children.
Probably	They have a lot of options available and it's close to home.
Probably	This school gave me a great taste of what college life is like. While many people do not know UWM, it has great courses and I definitely feel that I received an excellent education.
Probably	Transferred over here from UW-Madison and loved it! Not what I expected. The Bio department is very good.
Probably	UW-Milwaukee has a great campus and I love Milwaukee. The Journalism and Media Communication program has been outstanding. On the downside, until I was connected with my last adviser, Agnes, I found the advising to be unsatisfactory. I basically went through my first 4 years with little direction or guidance. This was partly because my first adviser quit and I really didn't know what to do or who to talk to.
Probably	UWM has great credentials for a biological sciences major with a focus in aquatic science especially with the GLWI and the new water undergraduate school
Probably	UWM has strong departments in Urban Planning and Anthropology as well as great research opportunities. However, some of the other departments are lacking to provide a rounded education.
Probably	UWM is a fine institution and continues to grow
Probably	UWM is a great university with a superb faculty. For once, I enjoyed attending classes, which was much different from my high school experience. There are several activities for one to involve themselves in
Probably	UWM is a much stronger university, academically, than I had originally known; therefore, it would take a substantial offer at a different university to change my mind.
Probably	UWM probably has the best JMC program in state, but I might have considered more out of state options.
Probably	UWM was good overall experience for me.
Probably	UWM was the most affordable college that would allow me to be close to home and enjoy the diversity I feel is necessary in a university.
Probably	Wide range of experiences
Probably	Wish I would of moved out of the city, but UWM as a school was fine.
Probably	Yes. I enjoyed being able to complete my degree completely online.
Probably No	Administrative problems and chapter 17. UWM off campus authority.
Probably No	As a creative writing major I need classes that allow me the freedom to write in the forum I want to. Instead, most classes did not follow this script and while I know there are playwriting classes I believe I should be allowed to write plays in a fiction workshop.
Probably No	Because of who i am right now
Probably No	Geographical location - I grew up in New Berlin and UW-Milwaukee is too close
Probably No	Having grown up in Milwaukee, I would have preferred to receive my undergraduate degree from an institution that was out of state. I was a transfer student and I only came back due to family illness.

Probably No	I do enjoy the university quite a bit and I don't regret attending UWM. However, I feel like I really got the short straw in the BIO SCI department. I know that scheduling is difficult, but the fact that many classes are only offered every other year really puts some students at a huge disadvantage. Many of these courses have substantial prereqs so they can only be taken in the junior or senior year, and when you get that far if it is the wrong year you are out of luck. Consequently, I was not able to take a single one of the courses I really was excited about. Not one. I'm really unhappy about this. It's tremendously disappointing to work so hard and then have to settle for classes that you aren't really that excited about simply because they fulfill a credit requirement. Knowing what I know now, if I had to do it all over again I would most likely choose a different school because I am really not happy with the way this panned out.
Probably No	I do not enjoy living in the city.
Probably No	I got no help from anyone ever. Not involved at all. My advisors were completely incompetent.
Probably No	I had a wonderful experience at UWM, but if I did it over I would likely choose a higher-ranked university. At the time, I didn't know I'd want to go to law school.
Probably No	I like the city, but i had to switch majors as a freshman from what i wanted to do, because i couldn't understand the foreign instructors. TA's were often useless, and negatively affected my GPA because of it. The biggest problem was parking though. If i knew how expensive and how big of a hassle parking was around campus i never would have picked UWM
Probably No	I prefer smaller class sizes
Probably No	I think I would have liked to go to a smaller school.
Probably No	I think UWM is more interested in keeping you in school and taking your money then wanting you to graduate.
Probably No	I wanted a different degree.
Probably No	I would attend somewhere with smaller class sizes.
Probably No	I would go back to UW-Madison if I had the resources.
Probably No	I would have gone to Madison
Probably No	I would have preferred to be in another state
Probably No	I would have rather finished at ASU, but family issues didn't allow me to do so.
Probably No	I would probably attend out of state, as I am not a fan of the state of Wisconsin. I also think students at UWM are too reserved.
Probably No	I would want to leave home, away from Milwaukee
Probably No	I'd like to go to a bigger state school with more school spirit and everyone living on campus
Probably No	Journalism department wasn't as advanced as other schools.
Probably No	Lost too many credits during transfer, got run around from several people to get to graduation, found a couple professors an insult to human intelligence
Probably No	Low Math requirements for graduation do not reflect the expectations in the workforce
Probably No	My high school achievements could have gotten me into a more prestigious school, I came here for a specific program, and once I left it, I chose to stay based on the relationships I had formed.
Probably No	None of the classes I wanted to take were ever offered. I liked that it was close to home and inexpensive, but that doesn't outweigh not offering the classes I wanted.
Probably No	Not as highly ranked as UW-Madison.

Probably No	Some of my advisors were not helpful at all. In fact, I was often figuring out things by myself, and whenever I did go in to see them to seek advice, they gave me incorrect information.
Probably No	some professors were not good teachers, didn't answer questions in emails
Probably No	The geography department wasn't very helpful. Not a well rounded assortment of classes for GIS (just intro and intermediate levels). There is no reason why remote sensing and spatial analysis courses at UWM should have been said to be "GIS related" because we did no GIS analysis. Some instructors take 2 weeks to get back to you or just don't at all. Except for handing me a stack of papers w/o much explanation, there was zero help/guidance finding an internship. Every geography course that I've taken for the past 2 years was in Bolton B95. Books too expensive, financially draining buy-back prices, there should be a renting option.
Probably No	There are other schools with better Pre-Medical programs.
Probably No	Though I enjoyed the location and my classes, a greater variety of classes, particularly history and political science, would have been appreciated.
Probably No	UWM charges their students for everything and doesn't have enough classes to offer that aren't online especially in the film studies and JMC departments. I don't want to have to pay $275 extra for something I'm not comfortable with just because I need it to graduate. Also UWM doesn't care about their students. A teacher told me they wanted us to fail and expected it so I dropped the class and complained to the administration and the response I got is that they are short staffed and don't have time to do anything. I expected more then that for the money I spend.
Probably No	would have finished at UW-Madison
Probably No	Would have preferred less focus on ancient Spanish history and more on contemporary topics, like immigration. Current authors, female authors, rather than classics. Also, language programs should focus on production (speech). This is the main reason almost every language major is majoring in a language, not reading obscure lit. Don't need so many science GERs for language degree. Generally didn't feel challenged or surprised by material in class. If I had been 18 I probably would have. Also PAWS is an incredibly poor system. For example, the next question asks how I feel and one choice is "probably."
