Julie Darrough passed away due to breast cancer on October 18, 2012. After her own diagnosis, she chose to fight the cancer both personally and by bringing awareness to the community, and by mentoring women who were also diagnosed with breast cancer. She was a founding member of the Wisconsin Pink Shawls and played an important role in connecting ABCD (After Breast Cancer Diagnosis) to the Native American community. Being a strong woman, in spite of her humble beginnings, Julie ran a successful business, raised a family, and gave much to her community. An enthusiastic giver and doer, Julie was also a dedicated Board member of Indian Summer Festivals. Julie valued education, and graduated with honors from UWM with a degree in teaching.

This scholarship has been established to honor Julie's memory and to provide a means for her generosity, tenacity and love of life to live on.
