The sources of CPI residual fibers tested for this project have considerable potential for many applications. The following are some of the high-volume applications that would require further evaluation. These applications have the potential to consume all of the residual solids produced at Consolidated Papers' Biron and Interlake Fiber mills.