Bodies, Politics, Cookbooks: A Global Studies Fellows Colloquium on Food

December 17, 2010 • 10am-12pm • Garland 104

The final Global Studies Fellows colloquium will take place Friday, December 17. It will feature presentations by A. Aneesh, Kristin Pitt, and Manu Sobti followed by moderated questions and an open discussion. Please join all the Fellows at this timely event. If you would like to join us for a light lunch afterwards (in Garland 104) please RSVP to Eric Herhuth at eherhuth@uwm.edu by Monday, December 13th.

The Fellows:

- Assistant Professor of History
  - Project Title - Telling the Truth about Colonialism in the Body: Muslim Midwifery, Obstetrical Science, and Birthing Modern Famine in Morocco

- Assistant Professor of Sociology
  - Project Title - Life and Property: The Ethics of Plant Ownership

- Associate Professor of Political Science
  - Project Title - Political Cookbooks

- Assistant Professor of Architecture
  - Project Title – The Last Apples of Kazakhstan: Modernity, Geo-Politics, and Globalization in Central Asia

- Assistant Professor of Comparative Literature
  - Project Title – The Vulnerable Body: Globalization, Migration, and Exposure in Contemporary American Narrative

To learn more about the Fellows’ projects please visit CIE’s website, www.international.uwm.edu