ENG 435 Rhetoric and Professional Writing

This course will be an overview and critical introduction to theories of technical and professional communication. We’ll be considering a range of theories, their applications to non-academic settings and reflecting critically on their social/political assumptions and implications.

The readings will consist of journal articles and books chapters, along with this volume:

The assignments will include short papers and presentations as well as a final project.

Please contact the instructor with questions: Dr. William Keith wmkkeith@uwm.edu