Recommendation of the Academic Program and Curriculum Committee to terminate the BFA in Theatre Education.

The Department of Theatre, in its efforts to fulfill its obligations to provide professional level training in all aspects of performance, finds it difficult, if not impossible, to continue support of its Theatre Education Major without subverting the Department's primary aims and purposes. Therefore, by unanimous vote of both the Department of Theatre and the School of Fine Arts faculties, it has been decided that the Theatre Education Major be dropped from the curriculum of the School of Fine Arts. This will be accomplished by ceasing to admit incoming students into the program as of fall, 1977, with courses in this area being offered by the Department of Theatre for the last time in the spring of 1980. This plan will allow the Department to fulfill its obligations to all students currently enrolled in the Theatre Education Major.

Teacher Certification in Theatre on the UWM campus will, however, remain available to incoming students through the School of Education, in cooperation with the Department of Theatre. This plan has met with the approval of the Department of Theatre faculty, the Fine Arts Education Council, the School of Fine Arts faculty, the School of Education, and the Academic Program Committee.
