The committee was not as active this year as it was in the previous year. During the previous year, we cooperated with the administrative committee of the University Graduate School in drawing up uniform procedures for the extension of graduate work to the Milwaukee Campus. During the present year the committee has been interested in observing the application of these procedures to certain of the UW-M departments. We were informed that under these procedures the English Department succeeded in obtaining approval to give graduate courses in Milwaukee. Furthermore, the Department of Sociology sought the advice of the committee regarding this department's proposal for instituting graduate work at Milwaukee. The committee was glad to give this department the benefit of its experience in these matters.

During the year total graduate school registrations at Milwaukee remained approximately as they were in the previous year; namely, about 850 during the first semester and about 800 during the second semester. However, within these total figures there were significant changes. The enrollment in Engineering decreased, but the losses here were balanced by increases in Education and Letters and Science.
