1. The Officer Education Committee is the Executive Committee of the Department of Military Science. The OEC works with the Department of Military Science in the areas of curriculum, budget, faculty appointments, and administration. To perform these duties, the committee met six times through March 1990. Informal coordination between the Department of Military Science and the committee is continuous.

2. During the 1989-1990 academic year, there were 98 undergraduate students enrolled in the courses offered by the Department of Military Science. Department faculty also taught two sections of Physical Conditioning 110 to 75 students. Five students had ROTC scholarships and 28 advanced course students received other financial aid through the ROTC program. The total amount of financial aid and scholarships was approximately $50,000. Nineteen cadets will be commissioned as Army Officers during the 1989-1990 academic year.

3. Curriculum:
   a. ROTC cadets are required to complete at least one undergraduate course in each of the following areas: written communication skills, human behavior, management, national security, and military history. In conjunction with the Department of Military Science, the OEC attempts to verify that cadets are meeting UWM and military science requirements in a responsible and timely manner.
   b. The OEC encourages exposure to military science activities by UWM faculty and administrators. This includes sponsoring opportunities to observe UWM students during off-campus training.

4. Budget: UW-M budgetary support for the department continues at a minimal level, although no major funding problems exist. The department did request additional funds through the College of Letters & Science for purchasing a computer system; the request was denied for this fiscal year.

5. Faculty: The committee reviewed and recommended approval of three new faculty members. Captain Andrew Runde replaced Major Randal Milling in September 1989. LTC John Hotz became the Professor of Military Science on 15 December 1989, replacing LTC (Retired) Gregory Fuenger who left in July. Captain Nicholas Harris will replace Captain Brian Larson in August 1990.
6. OEC members participated in the annual 3-year scholarship board. Results are incomplete as of this date.

8. Overall, this was a very successful year for the Military Science Program at UW-Milwaukee.
