Memorial Resolution for Winifred Phillips

With the death of Winifred Phillips on April 5, 1963, at the age of 82, the arts in Wisconsin lost an able craftsman and teacher. She was born at Clay Banks, Wisconsin, where, at the age of ten, she won the first of many art awards.

After graduating from the old Milwaukee Normal School in 1905, Miss Phillips pursued her interest in art at the Chicago Art Institute, Stout Institute, and Pratt Institute. In 1915 she received a degree from the newly formed art department of the Normal School, and in 1916 joined its faculty. She also studied pottery at the State School of Ceramics, in Alfred, New York, and at Craubrook, Michigan, with Maija Grotell.

During her thirty-five years of teaching at the Milwaukee State College (now the University of Wisconsin - Milwaukee), Miss Phillips taught a variety of classes including drawing, water color and the crafts. Miss Phillips' versatility was also reflected in her own work. Early in her career, she spent much time painting and exhibited paintings at the annual show of the Wisconsin Painters and Sculptors and in New York. Although proficient in many crafts, her main interest was pottery, and it was for her stoneware pottery that she won her widest recognition. She had the distinction of being one of the first craftsmen to revive the art of stoneware in the state.

Besides being represented in numerous private collections, her pottery is in the collection of the Milwaukee Art Center, the Syracuse Museum of Art, the Walker Art Center, the Minneapolis Art Institute, and the Metropolitan Museum in New York. In the early '40's, she was represented in a collection assembled by the International Business Machines Corporation to show the work of craftsmen of the Western Hemisphere.

She was a professional member of the National Association of Women Painters and Sculptors, the Wisconsin Painters and Sculptors, the Wisconsin Designer-Craftsmen, the Chicago Potters' Guild, the Milwaukee Art Institute, and the Walrus Club.

After her retirement in 1951, Miss Phillips worked with a group of artists in the Ozarks and established an extensive pottery at Caddo Gap, Arkansas. She never lost contact with Milwaukee, however, and made frequent trips home to visit her family and friends. When in town, she made use of the studios at UW-M to keep her hand in the work.

Those who knew Winifred Phillips will remember her best for her unusual sense of humor, the sureness of her hands as she controlled the clay on the potter's wheel, and the beauty she created.
