Recommendation of the Joint Student-Faculty Conference Committee on Educational Affairs to delete Document 176 of March 8, 1962 and to substitute the following legislation:

ADDING AND DROPPING COURSES

ADDING COURSES

Students at the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee are permitted to add courses to their schedule, with approval of the instructor, through the third week of classes.

DROPPING COURSES

A student may reduce his program to the minimum credit load (of his school or college) by dropping a course or courses during the first eight weeks of classes with permission of his adviser without incurring a failure in the course or courses dropped.
