In its meetings, the Library Committee formulated no policies requiring faculty action.

A recommendation that there be student representation on the committee was forwarded to the University Committee.

Approval was given to the existing mechanics of acquisition despite the existing possibility of some small number of duplications.

Permission was given to Mr. Philip Yannello to edit the ten James Joyce letters in the Little Review Collection at UWM and to use a photograph from it for publication in his article.

Finally, the budget, automated circulation and existing circulation policy were reviewed and studied by the committee. Still in a state of flux is the question of treatment of faculty withdrawals which are lost, overdue or perhaps kept for an unnecessarily long time.
